NADINE PRILL

Chief Executive Officer (CEO), DOCUFY GmbH

Nadine Prill has had overall responsibility for the growing software company as CEO since May 2022, in particular managing the administrative areas such as finance, administration and human resources. She began her professional career in 2003 with an apprenticeship as a bank clerk and thus acquired a solid foundation in the area of finance. Before joining DOCUFY in June 2016, she deepened her knowledge in project management, controlling, and business administration at a property developer and was able to gain initial leadership experience in an agile environment. She completed her know-how in part-time courses in business administration and business psychology at the European Distance Learning University of Hamburg and holds the title Master of Business Administration (General Management). She has already been DOCUFY's commercial managing director since October 2019. With team spirit and forward-looking ideas, she wants to set standards in the market and create solutions for the individual needs of customers from medium-sized businesses and large-scale industry.
